The heart of NA's spirit is the principle of service, an element that transcends mere participation and delves into the selfless giving and community building. Service work is a transformative process where members contribute their time, skills, and experiences to support and enrich the Fellowship. Giving back through service is an expression of the program's twelfth step – carrying the message to addicts who are still suffering. This act of service is crucial as it reinforces the principle of interconnectedness and mutual support that is central to the recovery journey. NA service work is diverse, offering numerous opportunities for members to engage according to their interests, capabilities, and recovery. From being a newcomer greeter, serving as a group service representative (GSR), and /or participating in organizing events to volunteering for helpline support, the avenues for committee service are vast and varied. Each role, plays an important and much need part in the seamless functioning of the fellowship.
